

Kumar Sandrasegaran, M.D. (biosketch)

Kumar Sandrasegaran, MD, FRCR, FACR is a Professor in Radiology with special interest in abdominal imaging. He works at Mayo Clinic, AZ. He has written over 150 peer-reviewed articles on liver and pancreas imaging. He has undertaken service in international radiology associations, having been chair of GI Refresher Course in Radiological Society of North America (RSNA) and the co-chair of Instructional Courses at American Roentgen Ray Society (ARRS). He is the co-chair of the Abdominal CT course run triennially by the American College of Radiology (ACR). He has been invited to give over 70 talks in 13 countries.

1. Medical School: Godfrey Huggins Medical School, Zimbabwe
2. Internal Medicine Residency: Birmingham Hospitals, UK
3. Radiology Residency: University of Leeds, UK
4. Radiology Fellowship: Indiana University School of Medicine (IUSOM), Indianapolis, USA
5. Professor of Radiology (2016-now)
6. Division Chief, Abdominal Radiology (2014-2018)
7. Fellow of Society of Abdo Radiology, Royal College of Radiology and European Society of Abdo Radiology (FRCR, FSAR, FESGAR)
8. Written > 150 papers, > 20 book chapters, and editor of three books
9. Research Grants worth $ 350,000 (Principal Investigator, co-PI)
10. Co-Director of American Board of Radiology (ABR) Course on Body Imaging (2016-now)
11. Refresher Course Chair for GI –Radiological Society of North America (RSNA) (2012-now)
12. Scientific Program Committee Chair – American Roentgen Ray Society (ARRS) (2011-2015)
13. Instructional Course Co-Chair, ARRS (2016-now)
14. Program Committee – ARRS (2015-now)
15. Program Committee – Society of Abdominal Radiologists (SAR) (2015-2017)
16. RSNA Honored Educator Award - 2013, 2014, 2016, 2017
17. Indiana University School of Medicine Trustees Award for Excellence in Teaching – 2012